The World educators' UCM social network is an initiative of the UCM cultural electronic magazine: www.e-innova.ucm and its audiovisual portal in YouTube: e-innova media. A project created by the doctorate teacher Tomás de Andrés Tripero. Dptº de Psicología Evolutiva y de la Educación of the UCM. E-mail: tmandre@ucm.es

Its principal objective is the creation of an international alliance between educators with different educational skills with the aim of reinforce its relevance and global witness, contributing to solidary and shared development of the knowledge in any part of the world with the purpose of collaborate with the progress, more innovative and advanced, of a humanity and knowledge without borders.

Based on the idea about the necessity of establishing universal ethic principles for the knowledge that could liberate it from the manipulative control of immoral interests and could situate it in a progress sphere to fight against the big scourges that threaten human being, specially children and schoolchild.

We establish this social network as a meeting point in which educators, regardless of the place and conditions they work, can exchange experiences, initiatives and knowledge for the common progress of any field of the education.

We understand that the advanced progress of the wisdom is inalienable patrimony of all the inhabitants of the planet that are in favor of peace, solidarity and tolerance and against any manifestation of particular or collective suffering.

The total defense of the equal rights between all human being, regardless of their constitution, sex or condition, is our more general principle.

There are no more requirements to belong to this social network that moral and decided agreement with the Universal Statement of Human Rights and the Universal Statement of the Children Rights.
