Asunto: Some thoughts about our recent news

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I am sure that many of you saw our announcement last week regarding an investment in Innovative Interfaces. So I want to take a moment to share with you some of my thoughts about this news.

As you may know, I have been at the helm of Innovative Interfaces for all of its thirty-three plus years. Many of us have seen Innovative grow from its start-up days in Berkeley to a respected library technology leader. Today, we appreciate that more than 4,500 libraries in fifty-two countries place their trust in our organization to provide the technology they need to run their libraries.

As we have heard from you many times, the partnership you have with our organization is strategic to the success of your libraries, and it has always been a goal of mine to ensure that Innovative has a corporate structure that is built for the long term. It was also important that this transition occur at a time when Innovative is strong, healthy and growing so that we would have a number of options available to us. For these reasons, I have decided to accept a strategic investment in the Company from two firms: Huntsman Gay Global Capital and JMI Equity. Both of these firms are from outside the library marketplace and have a long-term, stable view of investment and management that align well with our corporate values and identity. They will both be great partners and help position Innovative for the future.

What this means for you as a customer today is business as usual. I remain as Chairman of Innovative Interfaces and a significant shareholder in the Company, and will continue to be actively involved in its operation. We foresee no changes in the management structure of Innovative. The same people who answer the phone today will answer the phone tomorrow and we'll continue to move forward with an entrepreneurial spirit and a fine portfolio of products.

I want to thank so many of you whom I have learned from and exchanged ideas with, and I look forward to continuing our partnership. I hope you find this news to be as exciting as we do, and speaking for the entire Innovative organization we look forward to serving you in the years to come.

Kind regards,

Jerry
